be much more corrupt, and others much more pure; and the Purer part be fo much the leffer, and oppreffed and vilified by the more corrupt, that the most part should not difcern their Purity, but take them (as they did the Waldenfes) for Hereticks. 3. And that two parts or more of this Catholick Church may fo fall out among themselves, as that one of them shall deny the other to be part of the Catholick Church, when yet they really for all that centure remain parts of it, as much as they : And hereupon may grow a contest between them, which of the two is the true Catholick Church, and one part may fay, It is we and not you; and the other may fay. It is we and not you : and no man shall be able to difcern which of the two is the Catholick Church, because it is neither of them, but each are a part. 4. And though the Bodies of the members are visible, and their Worshipping actions Visible, and their Profession audible, yet the faith Professed is not Visible; nor the Truth of their Profession, or of their Christianity, or Church ; Truth being the object of the Intellect, and not of sence. 5. And though the true members of the Church do know the true Church, and fo it is apparent unto them, yet most that are not members of it, do not know it. Arrians and Mahometans know us to be men profeffing fuch and fuch Articles of faith : but they know not that to be the true faith, nor us to be the true Church, but judge the contrary. In this sence (contained in these Propositions) it is that Protestants deny the Church to have been alwayes Vifible, and not as the Papills commonly miftake them.

Prop. 4. We are agreed that this Catholick Church is but One: There are not two Vifible, nor two Myftical Catholick Churches: Nor are the Myfticall and Vifible, two: Bellarmine might have fpared all his labour that he hath befrowed in vain upon this point, to prove that the Vifible and Invifible are not two Catholick Churches. The Protestants are further from that Opinion then the Papifts: and it is more fuitable to the Popifh Interest and Cause to be of that Opinion, then to the Protestants. If it were not that they are pass learning, by the advantage of their Infallibility, and especially of one man, and one so mean, condemned by them, and that it is unlawfull to be a Teacher of Error, I could tell them of a new device by the advantage of this diffinction of Catholick Churches, for the modelling modelling their mistakes into a more specious plausible form, then now it appeareth in to the rest of the Churches. But we are glad of their company in any Truth, and therefore will not disagree from them in that which makes against themselves.

One Objection I once heard a Learned Anabaptist cast in our way, viz. There may be a Visible Church of hypocrites : therefore the Mystical and Visible may be two. Answ. But the Question was of the Catholick Church, and not of a particular Church. We confels that fome members of the Catholick Church are Myflical and Visible in the several respects before mentioned : and that some are Visible and not Myssical, or as Bellarmine well calls them, Dead Members, and not Living ; and that the Church as Visible, is more comprehensive then the Church as Regenerate, or Invisible, and yet all but One Church, though it have more members in it in one respect then in another : And we confess that its possible for twenty or an hundred of these Dead members to conflitute a particular Charch by themselves (though it is not usual for Visible Churches to be without Living members :) and so there may be a particular Visible Dead Member (Analogically called a Member,) or a particular Vifible Church that is thus Dead; and these be parts of the Catholick Church as Visble. But yet there is not two Catholick Churches, One Vilible, and the other Invilible, one alive and the other Diad.In a Corn field there are, I. Good Corn. 2. Stricken, blafted Corn that hath a name and thew, but in deed no Corn. 3. Tares, darnell cockle, and fuch weeds. It is called, A Field as it conteineth them all : It is called [a Corn field] only from the Corn. The Univocal proper parts of a Corn field, is the Corn only: The Vifi. ble and Analogical parts are alfo the blaffed ears: The darnel and cockleare no parts, but noxious accidents. There are not twofields of Corn, one of trueCorn, and the of other blafted ears : And yet the Corn field, taken largely and Analogically, hath more parties in it then true Corn : and you may perhaps have fome particular frieavs that are wholly of that which is blafted : which you will call a theaf of Corn Analogically only : but a theaf of weeds you will not at all call a theaf of Corn. Even to in the Catholick Church, there are fincere Christians which are true and living members ; and there are Hypocrites which are A nalogically members ; and there are locally mixed many that by denying effential points of the Chri-Ece 35 ftin stian faith, or by notorious Impiety, do declare themselves to be weeds, and no members of the Church at all.

Prop. 5. We are alfo Agreed that this One Vifible Catholick Church, is One Political Holy Society, as united in Jesus Christ the Head, who teacheth and ruleth it by his Ministers and other Officers, in the feveral parts, according to the neceffity of each. We call it One Political Society, I. Principally becaufe that all the Church is united in this One Soveraign, or Head, the Lord Jefus : and therefore it is called his body. 2. They have all the fame holy doctrine of faith, and Law to live by, and be judged by. 3. They have all Church Officers of the fame fort under Chrift to teach and govern them. 4. They have all the fame kind of Holy Ordinances, as Reading, Preaching, Praying, P. aife, Sacraments, G.c. appointed them by the Lord. 5. They are all engaged in One and the fame Holy Covenant to the Lord : More might be mentioned (and shall be God willing, in a peculiar Treatife of Catholicifm, or the Catholick Church) And though Christ himfelf be not now seen among us, yet may he truly be called a Vifible Head. For 1. He sometime lived vifibly on earth. 2. And is now the Vifible King of all the Church, as he is in the Heavens. Though we fee him not, the Celestiall Inhabitants do. It is but little of the world that feeth the Pope, any more then they fee Chrift: If one unfeen to us may be a pretended Visible Head, the other may be truly fo. So that the Body, Head, Laws, Worthip, Ge. being Visible, fo is the Policy.

Prop. 6. We are agreed alfo, that all these Christians, and particular Churches, are obliged by Chrift, even by the very Law of Nature, and the ends of their calling, and the General Laws of the Gospell, to live in as much Love, and Unity, and Peace as they can; and to hold as full and extensive communion as they can : that is, as far as their work requireth, and their Capacity will permit and enable them ; those that are cohabitans and members of one Congregation, must hold local communion in that Congregation, unless Neceffity prohibite. Those that through distance are uncapable of joining in the fame Affemblies, should yet be conjoined, 1. In the fame Lord, Faith, Baptism, Covenant, Profession. 2. In the same bond of Christian special Love. 3. In the use of the same fort of holy worthip, as to the Substance, though they differ in circumstances, as in the Word, Prayer, Praifes, Sacraments, &. 4. And in one fort of Church Officers and Government. And as far as we have to do with each other, all this fhould be manifefted, and we fhould readily own one another as Brethren and true Churches, notwith franding leffer differences.

Prop. 7. To these ends it is meet that the Bishops or Pastors of the Churches should hold in way of Affociation, as frequent Affemblies as is needfull, for the maintaining of mutual Love and Correspondency, and right understanding of each other, and to manifest their unity, and affiss each other in the work of God, that it may be the more successfully carried on by united strength against all oppositions.

Prop. 8. These Affociations should so far know the members Affociated, as is neceffary to the holding of a Christian Communion with them, and therefore should not admit all into their Affociation, but such as either produce the Evidences of sound faith and Holy life, or literas communicatorias, certificates from credible members of their communion, that the persons are fit for their Communion.

Prop. 9. These Affociations are principally for the Union and Communion of Churches, and therefore must apply themfelves to the maintaining and promoting of Unity.

Prop. 10. Such Affociations thould therefore have their fet times of frequent meeting in Synods, for Ordinary help of one another, befides extraordinary meetings on extraordinary occafions, which none thould neglect.

Prop. I.I. We agree that fuch Affociated Paftors may have their Moderators either protempore, or flated as the caufe requireth. And that it is no great matter whether he be called a Prefident, Bifhop, Moderator, &c. in which all fhould have liberty, fo far as that the peace of the Church be not caft away for fuch names.

Prop. 12, We are alfo agreed that whatfoever shall be concluded in order to the Union and Communion of Churches, in any of these Synods, the particular Affociated Members must observe, they being thereto obliged, by Vertue of those General precepts thet require us to do all in Unity and Concord, and with one mind and mouth to glorifie God, and to avoid divisions, Sc. Except they be such things as cannot be obeyed, unless we wiolate

Prop. 13. We are allo A greed, that when ever the good of the Church requireth it, there may be Greater Affemblies allo held, confifting of many of these conjunct, or speciall mem. bers delegate by the reft : And that this courfe fhould extend as far as our capacity will allow in needfull cafes.

Prop. 14. Laftly we shall grant, that where Pastors cannot through distance or other Impediments, hold Synods, or any particular Churches cannot fend any competent members to fuch Synods, yet may they, when its needfull, by meffengers certifie each other of their faith, professions, practifes, and particular doubts and cafes, and fo hold communion, in fome degree; owning each other as Brethren in one Lord, and by fuch intercourse of Meffengers and Letters as we are capable of, affisting, and feeking affistance from each other : As Bafil and the rest of the Eastern Bishops did to the Western in their distress while they had hope. And the faith of all the Churches that are neer enough for any externall communion, being thus known, their Litera Communicatorie may be valid and fatisfactory, when any member passeth into other parts.

Thus far I hope we are Agreed : This much I am fure we hold our felves : But now the difference followeth.

We hold that this Universal Church (which is one in Chrift their Head, as the world is one Kingdom in God the absolute Soveraign King) is by Chrift diffributed into many Congregations, dispersed over the face of the Earth, and that these as feveral Corporations in one Kingdom, have all their particular Governours and Order. All forcible Government we afcribe to the Magistrate, and deny it to the Pastors of the Church. And that teaching and Guidance which is called Ecclefiaftick Government, we suppose is the work of every Pastor in his flock, and the Ordering of the communion of Churches, by Canons, Agreements (and their execution in part) is the work of Synods. And as in this Kingdom, all the Free-schools are governed by the Schoolmafters, who are all under the Prince and - Laws, without any General Schoolmasters to Teach, or Overfee, and Rule the reft, (and without Synods too, though they may meet meet when their mutual Edification requires it,) and yet all the Schools in England are in Peace, because no Archscoolmasters prefume to rob the Magistrate of his power : Even fo we judge, that if Pastors do but Teach and Guide their severall flocks, and the Magistrate keep and use his power of forcible Government, that is, in feeing that they do their Offices faithfully, and no Archpastors presume to take the power of the Magistrates oue of their hands, the Churches may have quietnels and peace : f ftill allowing a greater Neceffity of Communion, and fo of Synods, among Churches then among Schools, and referving the rod to the fecular power.) And we concieve, that most of the flir that Popes and Popish Prelates have made about Church Government, hath been but to rob the Magistrate of his due, and to become themselves the Church-Magistrates through the world.

But that the Church hath any Politicall Universal Head but Chrift alone, either a Vice god, or Vice-Chrift, either Pope or Council; that any one is as Pope Julius faith of himfelf, [in the place of God, the maker of all things and Laws,] this we deny; That the whole Church on Earth, is fo one Political Society, as to be under any one terrestial numericall Head, whether personal or collective, Pope, Council, or Patriarks, having power of Legislation, or judgement over the whole, and by whom each member is to be Governed, this we deny : and think it as abfurd (and much more finfull) as to affirm that all the world muft needs have one Vilible Monarch under God to represent him; and that he is no subject to the God of Heaven, that acknowledgeth not this Wifible Universall Monarch. We deny that the Church is fuch a Society : We deny that it hath fuch an Head : We deny that it hath any fuch universal Humane Laws: We deny that the parts of it are to be conjoyned by the subordinate Officers (Cardinals, Patriarks, Archbishops, or what ever) of fuch an usurping Soveraign. We affirm that no Christian should fancy or affert that any such Head and Order for unity is appointed by Christ; or that it is Defirable, or Rome to be the better liked of because it pleadeth for such an Order, or vainly boafteth of fuch of an unity; or that any should dare to contrive the promoting of it. Yea we maintain, that fuch fancies and contrivances are the most notable means of the division, or defolation of the Chuches; And that it is the notable hinderance of the unity of all the Christian Churches, that such a falle Head and Center of unity is set up, and an Impossible Impious unity pleaded for, and furiously sought by fire and sword, instead of the true defirable unity : And that the Churches will never have true unity and peace if these principles of theirs be not difgraced and difowned, and the true principles better understood.

I shall now give you fome Arguments for our Affertion, and then in the End shall give you the true Grounds and Means of unity.

CHAP. III.

Church Government, nath been but to re

Our Arguments for the Negative.

I N the management of the Arguments for the Negative, I fhall principally deal with them that would Head the Church with a Council, that is, would make the Church to be autonomicall, and be the Soveraign, or chief Governour of it felf, or the Church Reprefentative of the Church reall (as they ufe to call them.) As to them that Head it with the Pope, I have faid enough already, and others much more, especially Blondell unanswerably. Yet I shall partly take them also in my way, though I deal principally with the other.

And these brief Arguments may serve to confute the Vicechristship or Soveraignty of the Pope.

1. There is no fuch Head Instituted by Christ. The Scripture pretenses for it I have before consured, and they are so poor, that they vanish of themselves.

2. The Popes Soveraignty is against the Judgement of the Ancient Fathers, and practife of the Primitive Church, as I have proved in this and a former Book.

3. It is against Tradition, as brought down to us by the greatest part of the Church on earth by far, as is before proved.

4. It is against the Judgement of the far greatest part of the present Catholick Church, as is proved.

5. It is the the meer effect of pride and tyranny : a plain defign to fet up one man over all the world for his greatnefs, and their hurt.

6. The pretense of this Soveraignty is the confequent only of Romes greatnels and the will of Emperours, that to conform the Ecclefialtical state to the civil, did give a Primacy to the Bishop of Rome within the Empire. and fun ad atola

7. It is a meer Impoffibility for one man to be the Soveraign of all the Churches in the world, and do the work of a Soveraign for them. He had need of many millions and millions of Treasure to defray the charge (which Peter had not.) While he pretends to govern all the world, he doth but leave them ungoverned, or not by him. How can he governall those Churches in the Dominions of Infidels, that will not endure his Government ? There are more then all the Papifts in the world now from under his Government voluntarily, that could not be governed by him if they would.

8. There are yet visible many great Churches that were planted by the Apostles, or in their dayes, and never were under Romes Soveraignty to this day, as the Atheopians, Perfrans, Indians, and most that were without the verge of the Roman Empire.

9. There is no use for fuch an Head, as I shall shew anon, of Councils.

10. There is not fo much Reason for it, or possibility of it, as that One man must be King or Monarch of all the world. Confidering that fpiritual Government requireth relidency, and can less be done by Deputies then temporal : And that Princes are truly Church-Governours allo in their kind and (hall direct my s way.

II. It is an intolerable usurpation of the Power of all Christian Princes and Pastors, who conjunctly in their several wayes are intruffed by God with the Government of the Churches under them.

12. To make fuch a Soveraign, is to make a new Catholick Church, that Chrift never made. 100 18 2011 and and

13. And its the most notorious schism, dividing themselves from all the Catholick Church, that are not their fubjects.

14. And inhumane cruelty to damn all (as much as Heathens at least) that believe not in the Pope, be they never fo holy les maitails broup free

15. To fet up a Vice-god (as Pope Julius paraphraftically called himfelf) and a Vice-chrift on earth over all the Church (as the Papist commonly do, maintaining that the Pope is the Vicar of Chrift) is to fet up an Idoll, and a name of Blasphemy, against Jesus Christ, whose prerogative it is to be the fole Univerfal Head ; And therefore he must needs be an Antichrist, whether he be The Antichrift or not. This much to the Pope.

Thef. The Catholick, Church of Christ is not one Visible Polimondon I Tim.3. c. tical body, as joyned to one Universal Visible Head or Soveraign, (save only Christ:) And consequently it is not the way to And fuch heal the Churches divisions, to dram allingo such a body, or endeaall the particular vour fuch an Union. Churches of the whole world confidered together under the supream Head, Christ Jesus, diffpenfing them all by himfelf, & administring them severally, not by any one aconomus, but by the feveral Bifhops as inferiour Heads of Unity to the feveral bodies fo conftituted by the feveral Apostles in their plantations; each of them having an durorouia, adeveral diffinct Commission from Christ immediately, and subordinate to none, but the fupream donor or plenipotentiary.]

> This I make good by these following Arguments, which reach both the Italian Papifts, that would have the Pope to be the Head or Soveraign; and the French and Caffandrian, who would have a General Council to be the Head, and the Pope only to be the chief Patriarch, and the Principium Unitatis: For if I prove that the Body is not one, as Headed by any except Chrift, I shall fay enough against both these opinions : But yet as is faid, it is pring cipally against the later (who are for the Headship of a Council) that I shall direct my Arguments; because they are the bufie Reconcilers, and becaufe the reft are fo largely confuted. already on both fides.

Argument 1. That which is the trae form of the Catholick. Church of Chrift, it retaineth de facto at this day : But it retaineth not a Political Union under a Visible Terrestrial Universal Head : therefore this is not the true form of the Catholick. Church.

Or, what the Catholick Church is quoad effentiam, that it is allo quoad existentiam : But it is not such a Body quoad existenriam; therefore not quoad effentiam.

If any will grant the conclusion, groad effentiam vel formam,

But I need not ftand on this, because the cafe is past controversie, and I know not of any that make the objection, or will go on fuch terms : I am fure those do not that I have now to deal with. The Major proposition I prove thus : The Church of Christ is a true Church at this day, or retaineth its effential parts: therefore it retaineth its form. If its effentials were not in existence, the Church were extind, or did not exist : But that the Church is not extinct or nulled, the opponents will eafily grant, and the promife of Chrift will eafily prove ; The gates of Hell fhall not prevail against it.

The Minor I prove thus ; If the Catholick Church be now Headed with one Visible Head (beside Christ,) then it is either the Pope or a General Council. But it is neither of these. That it is not the Pope, the French will grant. And 1. Its proved at large by many a volume of Protestant writers ; and 2. By the present visible state of the Church; The greatest part of the Church on Earth (and all those in Heaven) disown the Univerfall Soveraignty or Headfhip of the Pope ; The Greeks, Abaffines, Armenians, Protestants, O'c.

That it is not a General Council appeareth, in that there is no luch thing in Natural or Moral Existence. Not in Natur! ral existence; For where is it ? when called ? how long have they fate? But this none will affirm.

Not in Moral existence ; For there is no fuch thing pretended, nor poffible. I confess the Common wealth is not diffolved at the death of the Prince ; because a Successor being determined of by Law (as in hereditary Government,) there is one hath prefently right to the place, though he want folemn admittance or if elective, yet Rese non moritur, both becaule the successor hath an Intentional Moral being in the Fundamental Law, and the Intention of the Electors conjunctly, and they prefently make an actual choice, or else the power so far as is necessary for execution, falls in the mean time into the hands of fome Truftees of the Republick, while they are electing, and the foveraign is in fieri : Or if it be in fome diffolvable body, whole actual Seffion is intermitted, yet they are still in Moral being, and ready to affemble, and the Soveraignty for fo much as is of ordinary exercife, even over the Universal body, is in the mean time in the hands of some other Assembly, who therefore may be faid to partake of the Soveraignty.

NOT ON

But none of this is fo in the prefent cafe. Here is no General Council ordinarily in natural being; and therefore in the vacancy not in Moral being : There is none that pretendeth to be in Moral being : For the Council of Trent, which was the last pretended General Council, is disfolved; and the Pope would not take it well if any fhall call another without him : and no time is appointed for it : The Decennial Council determined of at Constance, is an empty name : and that Decree did but serve to prove, that really General Councils are not the Supream Governors of the Church : For no one obeyeth them in that. And whether ever the Pope, or any one elfe will call a General Council again, we cannot tell. So that now there is none, nor we know not whether there ever will be. But further.

Argum. 2. That which is the Head, or form of the Catholick. Church (or any may Necellary to its Being or Unity) hath ever been found init, or at least mithin this thousand years, or at least in the primitive purer ages, or sometime at least: But a true General Council is not always in being, nor ever was within this thousand years, no nor in the purer ages, nor ever at all: therefore it is no Head of the Church, nor necessary to its unity.

The Major will not be denyed. The proof of any branch of the Minor may ferve turn : much more of all. 1. That a General Council hath not been this forry years in being, all men will confels. If the Church have been Headlels forty years, or wanted any thing Neceffary to its Being or Unity, then was it to long no Church, or many Catholick Churches, which are known untruths.

2. If the Church have had any General Council within this thousand years, it was either that of Trent, that of Canstance. Balil

Basil, Florence, the Laterane, &cc. But none of these were fuch. For I. there were no Bishops from the most of the Christian world. I have told you before how few at Trent did the most egregious parts of their work (few more then forty :) The Churches of Syria, Armenia, Ethiopia, and the most of the Christian world, were never so much as fairly invited to be there. If at Florence the Patriarch of Constantinople, and two or three Greeks more were present, what's that to all the Churches of the Greek Profession through the world ? besides all others. The ancient Councils called General, contained All the Bifhops that could and would come. For all were to be there, and not one Bishop chosen by two hundred, or by a Prince, instead of two hundred. But at these later Councils were neither all, nor fo much as any Delegates (though but chosen by hundreds to represent them) from most of the Churches of the world. Befides the packing and fore-refolutions of the Popes, that ruled all, and many other Arguments that nullifie these pretended General Councils. I fay not that all of them were ufelefs ; but none of them were any more like to Occumenical or Universal, then Italy and its few fervants are like to all the Chriftian world.

And that the Ancient Councils were not General, I mean, the four first, or any like them, I eafily prove. 1. From the Original of them, and the Mandates, and the Prefidents, and Ratifications, and Executions. It was the Roman Emperors that called them, and that fent their Mandates to the Lieutenants and other fecular Officers to fee to the execution, and to the Bifhops. to be there : It was the Roman Emperors that by themfelves or their Lieutenants, were present to Rule them all according to the proportion of lecular interest. It was the same Powers that Ratified them, and what they ratified went for currant, and their Ratification was fought by the Bishops to that end. It. was the fame Power that banished them that obeyed not, and compelled men to fubmit to them. Now let any man of Realon tell me, what Power Constantine, Theodosins, Martian, or any Roman Emperor had to fummon the Bishops that were fubjects in the Dominions of all other Princes through the world? What Authority had they out of their own Dominion ?

2. Yea

2. Yea de facto, the case is known, I. That they did not fummon the Bishops of other Princes Dominions. 2. That those Bishops (at least no confiderable number were there.) What Mandates or Invitations were fent to all the Churches of India, Ethiopia, Persia, or the parts of Parthia, Armenia, Ireland, Scotland, &c. that were out of the Roman Power? Whoever those one or two were that Enfebins calls Bishops of Perfis, Parthia, Armenia, it's a plain cafe, that there were no due Reprefentatives of all or any of these Churches there, that were without the verge of the Empire. No Brittish, Irish, (that is, then Scottish) Bishops were there, nor any from abundance other Churches. And the other Councils after that at Nice, make less pretense to such a thing. So that it is most evident that General Councils then were but of the Bifhops of the Empire, or the Roman world, unless a Bishop or two sometime might drop in that lived next them. And was the Church no wider then the Empire ? Let Baronius himfelf be judge, that tells you of the Churches planted by the primitive Preachers, in India, Persia, and many other parts of the world. Let Godignus be judge, that confesseth the Ethiopians had the Gospel lince the Apostles days (and I pray in what age were they Papifts?) Let Raynerins be Judge, that faith the Churches of Armenia and others planted by the Apostles were not subject to the Church of Rome ? Let the Antiquities of Brittain and Ireland be evidence. But the cafe is undenyable. All this noyfe then of General Councils comes but from a supposition that the Roman world was the whole Christian world. A small mistake! We home-bred Rusticks may thorely be as well able to prove that a London Convocation was a General Council ! Pighins pleading for the Pope, faith plainly, that General Councils were the devile of Constantine. And the Popes themselves do fetch the most specious Evidences for their primacy from the Decrees or Edicts of Emperors, Valentinian, Gratian and others. And what power had those Emperors at the other fide of the world ?

3. And then before the Nicene Council, what General Councils were there fince the Apostle days? None doubtless that the world now knows of. It's senseless enough to think that 350 Roman Bishops at the second Council of Nice, or the 150 Bishops in the third Council at Constantinople, or the 165 Bishops at the

at the second Council at Constantinople, or the 150 Bishops at the first there, were the Universal Church of Christ? But it will be more ridiculous to fay, that the new-found Conciliums Sinnefanum, imagained without proof to meet in a certain Cave, for the deposition of an Idolatrous Pope, were a General Council. Where then was the Head, the unity, the form of the Church for 300 years? Was it governed all that time, think you, by a General Council? yea or ever one day fince the Apofiles ?

Well, but was there ever fuch a thing at all? Indeed men have a fairer pretence when the Church was contained in a family, or a City, or a narrow space, to call the meetings of the Apoftles or other Christians then, by the name of a General Council, but they are hard put to it, if this be all. The great Instance insisted on is the Council, Act. 15. But were the Bishops of all the Churches there? or fummoned to appear ? Att. 14.23. they had ordained them Elders in every Church; but few of them were there, Timothy, Titus, abundance were ab. fent. It's plain, that it was to the Apostles and Church at Hierusalem as the Fountain, and best informers that they fent. Not because these were the Universal Church, but because they were of greatest knowledge and authority. If it could be proved that all the Apoftles were there, it would no more prove them a General Council, then that the Deacons of one Church were ordained by a General Council, A&.6. And Matthias and fuftus put to the Lot by a General Council. Act. 1. and that Chrift appeared to a General Council after his Refurrection, and gave the Sacrament of his Supper to a General Council before his death. So that it is most evident from the event, that Chrift never made a General Council the Head or Governor of his Church ; and that there never was fuch a thing the world, much lefs continually.

Argum. 3. The form or unity (no nor the well-being) of the Catholick Church, dependeth not on that which is either unnecessary, unjust, or naturally or morally impossible: But a true General Council is none such: It cannot be : or if it were it would be unnecessary and unjug. Therefore it is not the Head or Soveraign Governor of the Church, on which its being, unity, (or well being) doth depend.

I have

I have nothing here to prove but the Minor. And 1. I shall prove the Impossibility. 2. The non-necessity. 3. The unjustice of a General Council : and so that no such thing is to be expected.

A true General Council confisteth of all the Paftors or Bifhops of the whole world; or fo many as Morally may be called All. A General Council of Delegates from all the Churches, must confist of fo many proportionably chosen, as may fignifie the fense and confent of all, or else it is a meer name and fhadow. Both these are Morally, if not Naturally Impossible : as I prove.

1. From the diftance of their habitations, fome dwell in Mefopotamia, some in Armenia, some in Ethiopia, some in Mexico, the Philippines, or other parts of the East and west-Indies: fome at St. Thome's, fome dispersed through most of the Turks Dominions. Now how long must it be, before all these have tidings of a Council, and fummons to appear, or fend their Delegates? Who will be at the cost of fending meffengers to all thefe? Will the Pope? Not if he be no richer then Peter was. How many hundred thousand pound will it cost before that all can have a lawful fummons? And when that is done, it will be long before they can all in their feveral Nations meet, and agree upon their Delegates, and their instructions. And when that is done, who mall bear their charges'in the journey ? Alas, the belt of the Churches Paftors have had fo little gold and filver, that they are unable themselves to defray it. A few Bishops out of each of these distant Countries, will confume in their journey a great deal of money and provision. To provide them thipping by Sea, and Horles, and all other neceffaries by land, for fo many thousand miles, will require no small allowance.

And then confider, that it must be voluntary contribution that must maintain them. And most love their money fo well, and know so little of the need of such journeys and Councils, that doubtless they will not be very forward to so great a contribution.

And it is not to be expected that Infidel Princes will give way to the transporting of fo much money from their countries on the Churches occasions, which they hate.

But suppose them furnished with all necessaries, and fetting forward ; forward ; How long will they be in their journey ? Shipping cannot always be had : Many of them must go by land : Ig cannot be expected that fome of them should come in less than three, or four, if not seven years time to the Council. And will ever a General Council be held upon these terms?

2. Moreover the perfons for the most part are not able to perform fuch journeys. Bishops are Elders : Most of them are aged perfons. The wifest are they that are fit to be trusted in so great a business by all the rest : And few attain that maturity but the aged: Especially in the most of the Eastern & Southern Churches that want the helps of Learning which we have. And will the Churches be so barbarous as to turn out their aged faithful Paftors upon the jaws of death? Some of them are not like to live out fo long time as the journey, if they were at home. They must pass through raging and tempestuous Seas, through Deferts and enemies, and many thousand miles where they must daily conflict with diffress. It were a fond conceit, to think that (without unufual providences) ten Bishops of a thousand fhould come alive to the Council, through all these labors and difficulties.

And moreover, it's known how few bodies will bear the Seas, and fo great change of air : How many of our Souldiers in the Indies are dead, for one that doth furvive? And can ancient Bishops, spent with studies and labors, endure all this? Most fludious painful Preachershere with us are very fickly, and fcarfe able to endure the fmall incommodities of their habitations : And could they endure this?

3. Moreover abundance of the Paftors of the Churches live under Mahometans and other Infidels, that will not give them leave to travail fo far into the Countries of Christian Princes on fuch occasions. They hate us and our Religion. They are oft at war with us, and then would hang those Bishops as Intelligencers that fhould offer to come among us.

4. And they must many of them pais through the Countries of other Princes, that are Infidels, and oft in war with the parts which they come from or go to. And it cannot be expected that in fuch cafes they fhould allow them paffage through their Countries. If one do, all will not : When poor Lithgow had travailed nineteen years, he was tortured, ftrappedo'd and difjoynted, joynted, and made a cripple at Malaga in the Spamis Inquisition. And thanked God and the English Embassador that he sped fo well.

5. Even at home in Enrope, the Princes are so commonly in Wars (as are France, Spain, Venice, Smeden, Denmark, Poland, the Emperor, Brandenburgh, Holland, Portugal, England, Tranfylvania, &cc. at this very day) that there is not the least probability that they should all or half confent to have so many of their subjects pass into their enemies Countries to reside so long. Jealousses raised by particular Interests would make it Treason.

6. Moreover many Princes understand that the Pope hath no power to call fuch Councils, nor any man elfe: and they know the defign of the Pope to subject the world to himself. And therefore they will abhor that their subjects should travail fo far at his call, that hath such defigns, (or at another mans that hath no authority to call them.) This hath made the Emperor of Habassian for resolutely result the Popes pretensions (as Godignus, Massian, and others do declare) Few Princes will endure to have their subjects brought under a forreign Power.

7. And if you suppose all the Bishops come to the Council, the very number out of all the Christian world, (to make any thing like a General Council) would be so great, as would be unfit for one, or two, or ten, or twenty Council houses or Affemblies.

8. And they would be uncapable of conferring, through diverfity of languages. Few of the Abaffines, Egyptians, Syrians, Armenians, or of most of the world, understand and speak any language that would commonly be understood and used in a Council. Nor is it possible to do it by Interpreters. For so many Interpreters cannot be used to tell all that understand not, what every man saith, and to expound their minds to others. This would waste an age in a Council; so that such a Council would be a very Babel.

9. And Councils use to be so long, that it cannot be expected that after so many years journey, old men should live to see the issue, or do any great matters there. Eighteen years at Trens would confume a great many of the Bishops: How many many even of the Popes own Legates dyed before that Council could be finished ?

10. And if they should live to fee the end, can you dream that they fhould live to perform the like tedious dangerous journeys and voyages to bring back the Decrees of the Councill to their Churches? Judge now whether fuch Councils are not Naturally Impoffible.

I will add but this. No men can be compelled. And to make all the world at once agree to fo difficult a task, and agree upon the time and place, must be a Miracle. One will be for it, and another against it. One for one time and place, and another for another, through most of the world. We fee how hardly any two Princes can agree upon times, places, and all circumstances in their Treaties.

2. Let us next enquire, of what Necessity fuch a Council is. If it be Necessary for Church government, it is either to make Laws, or to execute them. But for neither of these : therefore they are not Necessary.

1. Chrift hath made us Laws already fufficient for falvation. And I hope he hath not constituted fo loofe a Society, and lefe his Body to fuch mutations, as that they must fo frequently have new Laws. And if it must, fure it must be from their Soveraign, who hath referved the Legiflative Power to himfelf as his Prerogative. Legislation is the highest act of Supremacy, and chief flower in the Crown of Soveraignty. The Church is Chrifts subjects, and shall subjects make their own Laws? Scripture is sufficient. If this be all that we need General Councils for, to make Universal Laws to the Church, we can spare them as well as Traytors in a Common-wealth.

And for Execution of Laws, it is either Magilterial, by force of the Sword; and this they have nothing to do with, it being the Princes right. Or it is for the Excommunicating : Church offenders: And to cast them out of particular Churches is the work of the Paffors of those Churches. Others cannot know the perfons, and hear the caufe. If all Churchcauses should come to a General Council, Millions of men must be attending them at once.

And if it be to judge who shall be cast out of the Communion of the Churches, and what Churches themselves are to be excommunicated, the Synods of neighbour Paftors are to do as much of that as is to be done. Where then is the Neceffity of fuch Councils at fuch rates? Augustine faid that drunkennefs in his time was grown fo ftrong, that there must be a Council to fupprefs it. Could they do fuch feats as to cure Drunkennefs, Whoredom, Covetoulnefs, Pride, I would be for them.

3. If a General Council were called, it must be a most anjust Affembly. For, 1. It would be guilty of crueity and destroying the Church of Christ, by killing fo many of the Pastors as aforesaid.

2. It would be guilty of cruelty and Church destoying by the ftarving and defertion of the flocks at home. What will become of the poor peoples fouls, when they are left to the Wolves, to Hereticks, and Deceivers, and to the temptations of their own flefh, and the world, being for ten or twenty years, or for ever deprived of their Pastors under pretense of a General Council? Bafil in his feventieth Epiftle tells the Western Bishops, that they of the East could not come to folicite their own caufe with them. For, faith he, If any one of us (N. B.) do for the leaft moment leave his Church, he prefently leaveth his people to deceivers. And on this ground he fnews that they could not fo much as spare Bishops to be meer Messengers to thems Much less could they have spared a infficient number to flay feven or ten years together. If any think that fuch Neceffities are unufuall, he knows not the world. And Councils are most usefull if ever, when necessities are greatest.

3. In Councils things are carried by Votes : and fo Abaffia, Armenia, Mexico, and places foremote that they can fend but one or two, would be out-voted by that corner of the world where the Council is called, that can fend in proportionably an hundred for one; and fo under the name of a General Council, a faction might promote any herefie or carnal intereft, and no Churches would be fo enflaved as those that fend at the dearest rates. Italy and a few more parts, at Trent, would over-vote all the Churches of East and South, and fet up what interest or opinion they please : And fo if one corner of the Church can err, all may err, for all the Council. Where there is an equal interest, there should be an equal power in Councils : which will certainly be otherwise. 4. If
